

Get to know Hannover Re's newly appointed SteerCo members

On a personal note

Kai Haseloh taking over Hannover Re's seat in the Ruschlikon ePlacing SteerCo from Andreas Piegsa

Since joining Hannover Re in 2004, I have been working in various roles which always shared a common theme: the growing need to work efficiently and effectively with data, which is core to our value proposition as an industry.

In my current role as head/General Manager of P&C Automation, Processes and Systems at Hannover Re, I see Ruschlikon as a powerful catalyst to orchestrate data exchange between key stakeholders in the value chain.

I see a complex journey ahead but having joined the first meetings, I am convinced of the impact this powerful and resourceful community can make. Taking over Andreas Piegsa's role in the ePlacing Steering Committee, I am looking forward to continuing Hannover Re's support. Moreover, I am excited to take an active part as our industry moves from specification to implementation on the placement side.

Hannover Re recently joined the Ruschlikon eAccounting & Claims SteerCo with Christian Mau

More than twenty years ago, I joined the reinsurance industry and started my career at Hannover Re. Since then, a guiding light has been the incremental transformation of our accounting processes towards a digitised future.

Today, I am heading the Digital Accounting Team at Hannover Re and am responsible for bringing different stakeholders together to accelerate and automate our accounting processes to a maximum extent. Our most important stake here is the Ruschlikon powered by ACORD standardised data set and the structured data exchange with our main business partners.

A lot has been achieved and I proudly take on the role as a SteerCo member, which allows me to represent Hannover Re. By adopting the Ruschlikon principles, we aim to foster an environment where data flows seamlessly across different stages of the reinsurance process, reducing administrative burdens and enabling faster decision-making. As well as, in the future, supporting even larger stakes of the reinsurance value chain from Bid to Bind and through post placing to accounting and claims handling.

I have already experienced the collaborative spirit of the group that exemplifies how joint efforts can lead to greater innovation and efficiency, setting a standard for others in the industry to follow, and I am eager to contribute further to these transformative initiatives.
